What is divination in ancient Egypt? The Ancient Egyptians practiced divination for two main purposes: to inquire about the present and obtain useful information to make changes to a situation; or to beg for assistance from a god to make desired changes to current circumstances. It was the magician who attempted to compel the God(s) to do his or her will.

What is divination magic? Divination magic is that which gains the user (or divines) insight into the unknown across time and space, such as the future, past, or across great distances and even dimensions.

Who was the Egyptian god of divination? In the realm of ancient Egyptian prophecy and divination, the invocation of Thoth was a common and revered practice. Thoth's role as the god of wisdom, writing, and magic, as well as his ability to see the future, made him a vital presence in these practices.

Why is divination forbidden? Divination was forbidden for religious or political reasons in some ancient societies. Primarily for religious reasons, divination was explicitly forbidden in the Tanakh; nevertheless, it was certainly practiced in ancient Palestine, which is also attested in the Hebrew Bible.
