What is the message of L'Étranger? What is the message in the stranger? Camus wrote The Stranger to explain the philosophy of Absurdism, which claims that there is no inherent meaning in life, and that individuals must find their own ways to confront the indifference and meaninglessness of life.

Why is The Stranger so famous? Considered a classic of 20th-century literature, The Stranger has received critical acclaim for Camus's philosophical outlook, absurdism, syntactic structure, and existentialism (despite Camus's rejection of the label), particularly within its final chapter.

Is The Stranger an easy read? It was only 123 pages, so it would hardly take about 5 hours to read it, so I read it in just a couple of days. When I started reading, it was very easy to read, very simple and written well as I could visualise all the things happening vividly. It is kind of so simple as to feel boring.

What is Camus trying to say with The Stranger? Camus argues that life has no purpose and that death is the only certainty in life and, because eventually all humans will have to face it, all lives are equally meaningless.

Is L'etranger easy to read? It's a brilliant book to start with if you are new to reading in French because it is shorter and more accessible than a lot of the other well-known French novels. Given how famous it is both in and out of France, English translations are very easy to come by too.

Is Meursault autistic? It was then found that Camus had based Meursault on his close friend Galindo, and a search was therefore made for evidence of Galindo's character; this revealed him to be an intelligent but odd person, who exhibited the characteristic impairment of social and personal behavior of Asperger's syndrome.

Why do people like The Stranger by Camus? Camus' The Stranger is distinguished by its use of simple and direct language, which strikingly contrasts with the complexity of its philosophical themes. This writing style makes the novel accessible while addressing profound subjects such as existentialism and the absurdity of life.

What is the plot of the story L'Étranger? 'L'étranger/The stranger' tells the story of Mersault, a young French man in Algeria, who is put on trial for killing a man, yet the trial weighs less on his crime and more on the character's supposedly lack of 'morality', such as being judged for not crying at his mother's funeral, not wanting to see her body, meeting ...

What is the conclusion of The Stranger Albert Camus? Finally, at the trial's conclusion, Meursault is condemned to execution. His sentence, decapitation, can be argued to be a symbol for his irrationality, as the brain usually represents logic and thought. Meursault, as the novella reaches its resolution, comes to terms with his impending death.

What is Albert Camus' philosophy? Although he is often referred to as an Existentialist, the school of philosophy that examines existence and man's search for possible meanings of life, Camus preferred the term Absurdist, the belief that reality is irrational and meaningless.

What is the philosophy of The Stranger Camus? Though The Stranger is a work of fiction, it contains a strong resonance of Camus's philosophical notion of absurdity. In his essays, Camus asserts that individual lives and human existence in general have no rational meaning or order.

How long does it take to read Camus The Stranger? The average reader, reading at a speed of 300 WPM, would take 1 hour and 56 minutes to read The Stranger by Albert Camus.

What is Albert Camus last paragraph in The Stranger? For everything to be consummated, for me to feel less alone, I had only to wish that there be a large crowd of spectators the day of my execution and that they greet me with cries of hate. These are the last lines of the novel.

What is the paradox in The Stranger? I summarized The Stranger a long time ago, with a remark that I admit was highly paradoxical: “In our society any man who does not weep at his mother's funeral runs the risk of being sentenced to death.” I only meant that the hero of my book is condemned because he does not play the game.

Why did The Stranger win a Nobel Prize? He is best known for his novels The Stranger (1942), The Plague (1947), and The Fall (1956). Camus was awarded the 1957 Nobel Prize for Literature “for his important literary production, which with clear-sighted earnestness illuminates the problems of the human conscience in our times.”
