Why is Portia upset with Brutus Act 2? She is not content with Brutus excluding her from his political plans and is unhappy when she correctly believes that Brutus is keeping a secret from her. She stabs herself in the leg to prove her own strength and constancy to Brutus. In Act 2, Scene 4, Portia seems agitated.

Who begs Caesar to rescind his brother's banishment in Act 3 Scene 1? In order to catch Caesar off guard, Metellus Cimber drops to his knees and begs Caesar to repeal his brother's banishment. Caesar answers him but is immediately stabbed by all of the conspirators. Casca is the first to stab Caesar and Marcus Brutus is the last.

What happens in Julius Caesar Act 2 Scene 1? Act 2, scene 1 Brutus anxiously ponders joining the conspiracy against Caesar. When he is brought one of the unsigned letters that Cassius has had left for him to find, Brutus decides to act. Visited by the conspirators, he agrees to join them but rejects their plan to kill Mark Antony as well as Caesar.

What reasons does he give for killing Caesar? Brutus tells that he killed Caesar because he had become ambitious and wanted to be the king of Rome. He killed Caesar for the betterment of Rome. He was also ready to lay down his life for his country. He honoured Caesar as long as he was heroic but when he became ambitious he killed him.

Why does Portia cut her thighs? She even stabs herself in the thigh to illustrate the strength of her commitment to him, a drastic act revealing Portia's understanding that she must go to an extreme to get her own husband to listen to her. Despite all of her efforts, Brutus simply dismisses Portia when he hears someone at the door.

Why is Brutus up all night? Brutus is awake late at night. He tries to justify killing Caesar, saying that although Caesar seems honorable now, there is too great a risk that he may be corrupted by power. Brutus reads one of the letters that was left for him. The letter accuses him of not taking action to prevent corruption in Rome.

What are Caesar's dying words? Shakespeare's play The Tragedy of Julius Caesar depicts Caesar's last words as "Et tu, Brute?," which translates to "You too, Brutus?" Shakespeare used this line based on the book Twelve Caesars written by Suetonius over 150 years after Caesar has been assassinated.

Who is Publius in Julius Caesar? Publius is one of the men who kills Caesar on the Senate floor. Publius Cimber, however, is banished and never physically appears in the play. However, the conspirators use his name to distract Caesar before killing him.

Who was the traitor to Caesar? After the defeat Brutus took his own life. His name has become a synonym and byword for "betrayal" or "traitor" in most languages of Europe. His condemnation for betrayal of Caesar, his friend and benefactor, is perhaps rivalled only by the name of Judas Iscariot, with whom he is portrayed in Dante Alighieri's Inferno.

What is a metaphor in Act 2 Scene 1 of Julius Caesar? In Act II, Scene 1, Brutus uses metaphorical language to tell a story about the nature of people who achieve success: "... 'Tis a common proof / That lowliness is young ambition's ladder, /

Whereto the climber upward turns his face; / But when he once attains the upmost round, / He then unto the ladder turns his back, ...

What is Brutus deliberating about in Act 2 Scene 1? In Act II, Scene i, we see him deliberating with himself about the possible rationales for killing Caesar, not so much delivering a speech as working out how he would justify the killing, testing and discarding possible arguments.

Why did Caesar faint in Act 1 Scene 2? After Caesar turned 50, he occasionally had seizures, during which he fainted and had muscular convulsions. Four of his attacks were documented as they occurred during official functions. This may have been epilepsy, which is more common in older people.

How old is Caesar?

Why did Caesar get kidnapped? When Sulla died in 78 BC, Julius Caesar returned to Rome as a lawyer, prosecuted Sulla's supporters, and headed to the Greek city of Rhodes to study oratory. Pirates seized his vessel in 75 BC, kidnapped Caesar (then aged 25), and held him for ransom.

Was Brutus Caesar's son? Servilia had a son named Marcus Junius Brutus (85 BCE to 42 BCE). The Greek biographer Plutarch hints that Brutus was the illegitimate son of Julius Caesar, a result of this long-time affair. Caesar would have been 15 at the time Brutus was born. Many historians also think that Brutus was Caesar's biological son.

Who is Portia in love with? Portia is not at all keen on most of the men who have tried to win her, however she does fall in love with Bassanio. Ultimately she plays an essential role in ensuring that Antonio's life is saved, as she prevents Shylock from claiming his 'pound of flesh'.

Is Portia a female? Portia is a feminine name of Latin origin. In the theater; the name Portia appears in various Shakespearean plays, including Julius Caesar and The Merchant of Venice. The name Portia is imbued with powerful minds and powerful ladies alike, making it an excellent choice for your little one.

Why can't Portia marry who she wants? Portia's father set up a 'lottery' in his will, that means anyone who wants to marry his daughter has to pass a test first. _____

Why did Brutus kiss the earth? While the sons of the king drew lots to decide who would kiss their mother first, Brutus fell to the earth and kissed the ground, demonstrating his ability for critical thinking, since the earth is the mother of all life.

Did Brutus kiss Caesar? At the Capitol, the conspirators beg Caesar to restore the citizenship of Publius Cimber, each conspirator kneeling by turn to make his plea; even Brutus kneels and kisses Caesar's hand. Then, one by one, the conspirators stab Caesar with Brutus delivering the final blow.

Does Brutus stab himself? Brutus preserves his noble bravery to the end: unlike the cowardly Cassius, who has his slave stab him while he, Cassius, covers his face, Brutus decides calmly on his death and impales himself on his own sword.

Why do people say "et tu brute"? In modern culture, someone might say "Et tu, Brute?" after realizing a close friend or ally has betrayed them in some way. You would use this phrase when that betrayal ultimately leads to the speaker's downfall.

Why did Brutus betray Julius? Why was Julius Caesar betrayed? Caesar was betrayed because members of the Senate believed he would become a dictator if given too much power. Brutus, his friend, was convinced of this so much that he betrayed his friend and leader.

Did Cesar really say "et tu brute"? There is no evidence that the historical Caesar spoke these words.

Why is Portia worried about Brutus in Act 2 Scene 4? Portia is anxious in this scene because she is deeply worried about her husband, Brutus. Brutus has been acting secretive and distant lately, and Portia senses that something important is happening. She is concerned about Brutus's involvement in the conspiracy against Caesar and fears for his safety.

Why was Portia upset? Portia is upset because according to her father's will, she could neither choose someone whom she likes nor reject someone whom she dislikes. Nerissa assures Portia that the right casket will only be chosen by someone who shall truly love her.

What does Portia want Brutus to do in Act 2 Scene 1? Brutus's wife, Portia, enters the garden. She wonders what has been worrying Brutus, for his behavior has been strange. He says that he has felt unwell. She asks why he refuses to tell her his concerns, insisting that, as his wife, she should be told about his problems and assuring him that she will keep his secrets.

What is Portia's problem at the beginning of Scene 2? Act 1 Scene 2 Portia is unable to choose her own husband and instead any suitor wishing to marry Portia must pick one of three caskets. One is made of lead, one of silver and one of gold. If the suitor chooses the casket that holds a portrait of Portia, then they win her hand in marriage.

Does Brutus care that Portia died? 'Brutus the Stoic' not mourning over Portia's death was consistent with his character as portrayed by Shakespeare. Brutus was a known follower of Stoicism. The Stoics believed that one "should not be psychologically subject to emotion or not be manipulated or moved by it.

Does Portia know Brutus' secret? Portia, Brutus's wife, knows that he is involved in a plan for Caesar, but does not know the details of the plan. She thinks she hears violent noises coming from the building, but it is only her paranoia.

Does Portia love Brutus? The relationship between Brutus and Portia is of a loving one. Portia speaks to Brutus gently calling him, 'my dear lord' and 'gentle' this actually shows that Portia respects and honors Brutus.

Who was Portia pretending to be? Portia arrives in the court disguised as a male lawyer, Balthasar, and inevitably identifies a flaw in the bond – Shylock cannot shed a drop of blood in claiming the pound of flesh otherwise he is committing murder.

Why does Portia feel she can sin? Answer: Why does Portia feel she can sin? Answer: Portia says that if Bassanio chooses wrongly he will have to leave Belmont at once. She would be filled with remorse, wishing that she had rather broken the oath and helped him to win by choosing correctly.

What does Portia's death symbolize? Portia's death is a portent of Brutus' eventual demise. Losing his wife to suicide greatly demoralizes Brutus and takes away one of his reasons to live. This is similar to his experience when he is visited by Caesar's ghost. Both instances symbolize that his own destruction and death are near.

Why does Portia stab herself? Despite this pride, Portia also concedes to Roman gender expectations, associating femininity with weakness and identifying with the ideal of the fearless Roman man, stabbing herself in the thigh to prove she is trustworthy, and eventually killing herself in a gruesome manner, by swallowing hot coals.

What does Portia feel is her weakness? (iv) When Portia says she has "a man's mind but a woman's might," she means that she possesses the mental strength and understanding of a man, but physically, as a woman, she is not as powerful or able to directly influence the situation. She feels her weakness lies in the limitations imposed by her gender.

Is Brutus' sick monologue Portia? Is Brutus sick? and is it physical To walk unbraced and suck up the humours Of the dank morning? What, is Brutus sick, And will he steal out of his wholesome bed, To dare the vile contagion of the night And tempt the rheumy and unpurged air To add unto his sickness?

Why does Portia pretend to be a man? The play tells the story of a merchant named Antonio who narrowly escapes death at the hands of a corrupted Jewish moneylender named Shylock. Portia, an heiress, impersonates a lawyer to save Antonio from Shylock's threats.

Why is Portia upset about choosing a husband? Summary: Act I, scene ii At Belmont, Portia complains to her lady-in-waiting, Nerissa, that she is weary of the world because, as her dead father's will stipulates, she cannot decide for herself whether to take a husband.

What is Antonio's final wish before he dies? Antonio says that he wishes only to see Bassanio before he dies; his plans "have all miscarried," he says; his "creditors grow cruel"; his "estate is very low"; and his "bond to the Jew is forfeit." Yet, Antonio says, all debts between him and Bassanio are "cleared," and he says that he wishes only "that I might but ...
