Songs of Ourselves: A Unique Music Program at the University of Cambridge

The University of Cambridge is globally renowned for its academic excellence, but it also boasts a hidden gem in the form of its "Songs of Ourselves" program. This unique music initiative aims to foster a sense of community, well-being, and academic engagement among students, staff, and alumni through the shared experience of singing.

What is Songs of Ourselves?

Songs of Ourselves is a non-audition choir that welcomes everyone, regardless of musical experience or ability. It provides a safe and welcoming space for individuals to come together, explore their voices, and connect with others through the power of music. The choir's repertoire is diverse, ranging from traditional folk songs to contemporary pop hits, ensuring there is something for everyone to enjoy.

How does Songs of Ourselves benefit participants?

Participation in Songs of Ourselves offers numerous benefits, including:

- Enhanced well-being: Studies have shown that singing can reduce stress, boost mood, and promote feelings of connection.
- Improved academic engagement: Singing has been linked to improved cognitive function, memory, and concentration, which can positively impact academic performance.

- Community building: The choir provides a shared experience that helps to foster a sense of belonging and friendship among participants.

Who can join Songs of Ourselves?

Songs of Ourselves is open to all members of the University of Cambridge community, including students, staff, and alumni. No prior musical experience or ability is required, and all are welcome to participate.

How can I join Songs of Ourselves?

To join Songs of Ourselves, simply contact the choir's Musical Director, Dr. Cheryl Everett, via email at cje31@cam.ac.uk. Rehearsals take place weekly during university term time.
