6.24x50 AO & Manual: Questions and Answers

1. What is the difference between the 6.24x50 AO and the 6.24x50 non-AO models?

The 6.24x50 AO model features an Adjustable Objective (AO) lens, which allows for precise focusing at different distances. This makes it ideal for long-range shooting, as it provides a clear and focused image of the target. The non-AO model, on the other hand, has a fixed focus that is typically set for distances between 100 and 300 yards.

2. What scope mount is required for the 6.24x50 AO?

The 6.24x50 AO model requires a 30mm scope mount. This is due to the large objective lens diameter, which requires a wider mounting surface for proper alignment and stability.

3. What magnification does the 6.24x50 AO provide?

The 6.24x50 AO provides a fixed magnification of 6.24x. This magnification is well-suited for long-range shooting, as it allows for precise target acquisition and engagement while maintaining a reasonable field of view.

4. What is the manual focus range of the 6.24x50 AO?

The 6.24x50 AO's manual focus range extends from 50 yards to infinity. This allows it to focus on targets at a variety of ranges, making it versatile for different shooting applications.

5. Does the 6.24x50 AO come with any accessories?

Depending on the specific model and manufacturer, the 6.24x50 AO may come with a sunshade or lens covers. Some models may also include a throw lever for quick and easy magnification adjustments while maintaining a consistent cheek weld.
