Subnetting Questions and Answers: A Comprehensive Explanation

Question 1: What is subnetting? Answer: Subnetting is the process of dividing a single network into smaller logical networks called subnets. It allows organizations to improve network efficiency, security, and flexibility.

Question 2: What are the benefits of subnetting? Answer: Benefits of subnetting include improved network performance, enhanced security, easier network management, reduced broadcast traffic, and increased network redundancy.

Question 3: How is subnetting implemented? Answer: Subnetting is implemented by borrowing bits from the host portion of the IP address. The borrowed bits create a subnet mask, which defines the boundaries of each subnet within the network.

Question 4: What is the difference between a subnet mask and a network mask? Answer: A subnet mask is used for dividing a network into subnets, while a network mask is used for determining the network address and host addresses within a particular subnet.

Question 5: What are the steps involved in subnet calculation? Answer: Subnet calculation involves the following steps:

1. Determine the number of subnets needed.
2. Calculate the subnet mask using the number of subnets.
3. Divide the network address into subnet addresses.
4. Assign IP addresses to hosts on each subnet.
