The Gospel of John: Questions and Answers

1. Who wrote the Gospel of John? The traditional and widely accepted view is that the Gospel of John was written by the apostle John, the son of Zebedee. This view is based on the internal evidence of the Gospel itself (e.g., 21:24-25) and early Christian tradition.

2. Why was the Gospel of John written? John's Gospel is believed to have been written to present a particular theological perspective on Jesus Christ and to counter various heresies that were circulating at the time. It aims to emphasize the deity of Christ, his role as the divine Word, and the importance of faith and belief in him for salvation.

3. What are some of the distinctive features of the Gospel of John? Unlike the other canonical Gospels, which focus primarily on Jesus' ministry in Galilee, John focuses on Jesus' activities in Judea. It also contains a significant amount of theological discourse and dialogue, emphasizing the divine nature of Christ and the importance of his relationship with the Father.

4. How does the Gospel of John differ from the other Gospels? John's Gospel presents a different chronological order and selection of events compared to the Synoptic Gospels (Matthew, Mark, and Luke). It also includes unique teachings and stories, such as the long "Farewell Discourse" (John 14-16) and the raising of Lazarus (John 11).

5. What are some of the key themes in the Gospel of John? Central themes in the Gospel of John include the deity of Christ, the Holy Spirit, the importance of faith and belief, eternal life, the relationship between Jesus and his followers, and the divine plan of salvation.
