Solution of Kachot: A Comprehensive Guide

What is Kachot?

Kachot is a type of Indigenous fermented food made from maize and is widely consumed in North-eastern India. It is a staple food in many rural communities and is known for its nutritional value and distinctive taste.

Why is Kachot Fermented?

Fermentation is a crucial step in the production of kachot. It involves the natural breakdown of carbohydrates in maize by microorganisms, such as lactic acid bacteria and yeasts. Fermentation not only enhances the flavor and texture of kachot but also makes it more nutritious by increasing the bioavailability of essential nutrients.

What is the Process of Making Kachot?

The process of making kachot is relatively simple. First, maize is soaked in water for several hours. It is then boiled and mashed to form a dough. The dough is then placed in a container and left to ferment for several days. During fermentation, the microorganisms convert the starch and sugars in the maize into lactic acid, acetic acid, and other metabolites, which contribute to the characteristic flavor of kachot.

What are the Nutritional Benefits of Kachot?
