Question: I have a Peugeot 407 with the RT1 system. Can I upgrade it to the RT3 unit?

Answer: Yes, you can upgrade your 407's RT1 system to the RT3 unit. However, this is a complex and potentially costly procedure.

Question: What is the difference between the RT1 and RT3 units?

Answer: The RT3 unit offers several key enhancements over the RT1 system, including GPS navigation, Bluetooth connectivity, and a larger display. It also supports additional features such as DVD playback and TMC traffic information.

Question: What is required for the upgrade?

Answer: The upgrade requires a new RT3 unit, wiring harness, and fascia panel. You will also need to purchase a separate GPS map card. It is recommended to have the upgrade performed by a qualified mechanic.

Question: How much does the upgrade cost?

Answer: The cost of the upgrade will vary depending on the parts you purchase and the labor involved. However, expect to pay around €500-€1000 for the parts and labor.

Answer: Whether or not the upgrade is worth it depends on your individual needs. If you are looking for a more modern and feature-rich infotainment system, then the RT3 upgrade is a good option. However, if you are happy with the RT1 system, then the upgrade may not be necessary.
