Network Security Essentials 5th Edition by William Stallings: Q&A

1. What is a firewall? A firewall is a security device that monitors and controls the incoming and outgoing network traffic based on predetermined security rules. It acts as a barrier between trusted and untrusted networks, such as protecting an internal network from external threats.

2. Describe the difference between symmetric and asymmetric encryption. Symmetric encryption uses the same key for encryption and decryption, while asymmetric encryption uses different keys. In asymmetric encryption, one key (the private key) is kept secret, and the other (the public key) is shared.

3. What is the purpose of a VPN? A VPN (Virtual Private Network) creates a secure tunnel over a public network, allowing users to access remote resources as if they were on the same intranet. It enhances privacy and security by encrypting all traffic between the client and the VPN server.

4. Elaborate on the concept of access control lists (ACLs). ACLs are lists of permissions that define who can access a particular resource. They specify the rules for who is allowed to read, write, or execute files or directories in a computer system. ACLs help enforce security policies and prevent unauthorized access.

5. Discuss the role of security auditing in network security. Security auditing involves examining the security logs and other data to identify any security breaches or suspicious activity. It helps organizations detect potential vulnerabilities, determine the scope of a compromise, and implement corrective measures to enhance security.
