How to read tarot cards step by step?

How to do your first tarot card reading for yourself? Come up with a singular question or focus for your reading, so you can gain a clear answer from the cards. To conduct a simple one-card reading, select one card from the tarot deck. Study the card and meditate on its message, using the interpretation guide that accompanies your deck.

How do you read tarot spreads? The spread is generally meant to represent the arc of your life, with the first line representing your past or childhood, the second row revealing the here and now, and the third row showing the future. The placements of the cards are up to the reader in this one, says Honigman.

When not to read tarot cards? Your Question Is About Someone Else If your entire line of questioning is about another person and their thoughts and behaviors (like what your ex is up to), then a tarot reading is not the answer. Tarot is supposed to give you insight about yourself, not other people.

How do you learn tarot cards for beginners? For beginners, spreads or specific forms of reading can be easier to grasp. The simplest of these is a one-card spread, where a single card is pulled. Pulling a single card at a time can be less overwhelming than a full spread, and it can give you the opportunity to get to know the cards better.

What is the tarot card spread for beginners? Three-card spreads are perfect for structures like "past, present future," "what you know, what you feel, what you should do" and "problem, solution, outcome." For total beginners, I'd advise starting with simple, daily one-card draws and then, after a week or two, starting to use three-card spreads.

How should I pull my tarot cards? Some people like to spread the cards out after shuffling and pick a card that they feel drawn to. Others like to feel the energy of the cards as they are rubbing their hands through the deck. Once you find a card that radiates with energy or power, take it out of the deck. You can pull one or three cards at a time.

How do I cleanse my tarot cards? To clear your deck try leaving it overnight with a crystal on top of it. You might also decide to create a crystal grid to place your deck in the center of. Another method is to place your deck in a bowl and surround it with crystals overnight. I like using selenite, quartz, smokey quartz, and obsidian.
