The New UAE Insolvency Law: Where Are We Now?

1. When did the new insolvency law come into effect?

The New UAE Insolvency Law, Federal Decree-Law No. 9/2016, came into effect on 29 December 2016.

2. What types of businesses does the law apply to?

The law applies to all businesses, including natural persons who carry out a commercial or professional activity, and individuals who are not considered traders under UAE law but have debts exceeding AED 50,000.

3. What are the key features of the law?

The law introduces a comprehensive framework for dealing with insolvent businesses, including:

- Early warning system: Companies that anticipate financial difficulties can seek early intervention from a court-appointed insolvency practitioner.
- Restructuring plans: Viable businesses can propose and implement restructuring plans to continue operating.
- Liquidation: Companies that cannot be restructured can be liquidated, ensuring an orderly winding-down of operations and distribution of assets to creditors.
- Creditor protection: The law protects creditors from fraudulent or preferential transactions by insolvent debtors.

4. What is the role of the insolvency practitioner?

Insolvency practitioners are licensed professionals who are appointed by the court to oversee the insolvency process and administer the debtor's assets. They are responsible for:

- Investigating the debtor's financial affairs
- Preparing and implementing restructuring plans
- Distributing assets to creditors in the event of liquidation

5. What are the benefits of the new law?

The new law provides a number of benefits for businesses and creditors, including:

- Improved predictability and transparency: The law provides clear guidelines for dealing with insolvency, reducing uncertainty and legal disputes.
- Enhanced creditor protection: Creditors are given greater rights and protections under the law, ensuring a fairer distribution of assets in the event of insolvency.
- Increased opportunities for business rehabilitation: The law encourages restructuring over liquidation, giving viable businesses a chance to recover and continue operating.
