Who Would Jesus Kill? War, Peace, and the Christian Tradition

The question of whether Jesus would endorse violence has haunted Christianity for centuries. In modern times, it has taken on new urgency as Christians grapple with issues such as terrorism, genocide, and the use of military force.

Would Jesus Sanction Killing?

The answer to this question lies in the Gospels themselves. Jesus taught that love is the greatest commandment (Matthew 22:34-40) and that we should love our enemies (Matthew 5:44). He also said that he came to bring peace, not the sword (Matthew 10:34).

These teachings seem to suggest that Jesus would not endorse violence. However, it is important to note that Jesus also said that he came to bring judgment (John 9:39). He also said that he would return to earth with a sword (Revelation 19:15).

Reconciling Violence and Pacifism

How can we reconcile these seemingly contradictory teachings? Some Christians believe that Jesus would endorse violence in self-defense or in defense of others. Others believe that Jesus would always advocate for pacifism.

The Just War Tradition

The Just War Tradition is a Christian doctrine that attempts to justify the use of military force under certain conditions. These conditions include:

- The war must have a just cause (such as defending against aggression).
- The war must be waged by a legitimate authority.
- The war must be conducted in a just manner (with the goal of minimizing suffering).

Alternative Perspectives

Not all Christians agree with the Just War Tradition. Some Christian pacifists believe that violence is never justified, even in self-defense. Others believe that the use of military force can sometimes be justified, but that it should always be a last resort.

Conclusion

The question of whether Jesus would endorse violence is not an easy one to answer. The Gospels provide evidence to support both pacifism and the Just War Tradition. Ultimately, each Christian must decide for themselves how they interpret Jesus' teachings on this issue.

The Vertical Farm: Feeding the World in the 21st Century

By Dickson D. Despommier

Introduction

As the world's population continues to grow and arable land becomes scarce, the need for sustainable food production becomes increasingly urgent. Enter the vertical farm, a revolutionary concept that promises to provide a solution to this global challenge.

What is a Vertical Farm?

A vertical farm is a controlled-environment agriculture system where crops are grown vertically in stacked layers. This innovative approach maximizes space utilization and allows for year-round production in urban areas. Vertical farms utilize artificial lighting, temperature control, and nutrient-rich hydroponic or aeroponic systems to support plant growth.

Benefits of Vertical Farming

Vertical farming offers numerous benefits over traditional agriculture, including:

- Increased crop yield per square foot
- Reduced water and fertilizer consumption
- Controlled environment, protecting crops from pests and diseases
- Year-round production, independent of weather conditions
- Reduced transportation costs and environmental impact

Sustainability in the 21st Century

In the 21st century, vertical farming has emerged as a sustainable solution to the challenges of food production. By reducing resource consumption, minimizing environmental impact, and increasing food security, vertical farms play a vital role in feeding the growing global population.

The Future of Vertical Farming

As technology advances, vertical farming is expected to expand rapidly. Innovations in lighting, automation, and crop science will further enhance efficiency and productivity. Additionally, vertical farms will increasingly integrate with other urban infrastructure, such as buildings and transportation systems, creating sustainable eco-friendly cities of the future.

The Catholic Ten Commandments

The Ten Commandments are a set of religious and moral imperatives that play a central role in Catholicism and other Abrahamic religions. They are believed to have been given by God to Moses on Mount Sinai and are recorded in the Book of Exodus in the Bible.

1. What are the Ten Commandments?

The Ten Commandments are as follows:

1. I am the Lord your God. You shall have no other gods before me.
2. You shall not make for yourself a carved image, or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth.
3. You shall not take the name of the Lord your God in vain.
4. Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy.
5. Honor your father and your mother.
6. You shall not murder.
7. You shall not commit adultery.
8. You shall not steal.
9. You shall not bear false witness against your neighbor.
10. You shall not covet your neighbor's house; you shall not covet your neighbor's wife, or his male servant, or his female servant, or his ox, or his donkey, or anything that is your neighbor's.

2. Why are the Ten Commandments important?

The Ten Commandments are important because they provide a moral framework for living a life that is pleasing to God. They teach us how to treat others with respect, honor our parents, and avoid committing sins. Following the Commandments helps us to live in harmony with God and with others.

3. Are there any exceptions to the Ten Commandments?

The Ten Commandments are generally considered to be absolute and binding on all people. However, there may be some exceptions in certain situations. For example, it may be necessary to break the commandment against murder in order to save one's own life or the life of another.

4. What is the purpose of the Ten Commandments?

The purpose of the Ten Commandments is to guide our behavior and help us to live in accordance with God's will. They are a reminder that we are responsible for our actions and that we will be held accountable for our choices.

5. How can we follow the Ten Commandments?

Following the Ten Commandments can be challenging, but it is possible with God's help. We can pray for his guidance and strength, and we can seek the support of others who share our values. By living according to the Commandments, we can grow in holiness and love.
