Has there ever been a draw in NRL? Prior to its introduction into the National Rugby League competition at the beginning of the 2003 season, normal season games were left as draws; in finals matches, 20 minutes extra time ensued (10 minutes each way), with a replay in the event of a draw.

Has there ever been a 0-0 draw in the rugby league? 1982. Newtown and Canterbury play out the only nil-all draw in first-grade premiership history. Henson Park became 'ground zero' as two teams packed with attacking talent failed to trouble the scorer.

Has there ever been a 0-0 NRL game? St George Illawarra 8 def Parramatta 1 – 2006, Round 13 It took 69 minutes for the scorers to be troubled when Parramatta's John Morris broke the 0-0 deadlock with a field goal before Dragons halfback Ben Hornby replied with two field goals of his own.

Can rugby league end in a draw? (a) The game shall be won by the team scoring the greater number of points. If both teams score an equal number of points, or if both teams fail to score, then the game shall be drawn.

Does rugby ever end in a draw? In fact, on average only 4% of all rugby matches end in a draw, so when people are looking to have a bet on the match result they tend to overlook this type of bet since it's so unlikely. The draw is something that we rarely bet on ourselves, but we do know that there are people out there who target it.

Can you bet on a draw in NRL? If the official result of a match is a draw, both teams will be paid out as winners, with the dead heat calculation applied meaning bets are paid out at half odds, or half (50%) of the face value of the winning ticket.

What happens if there is a draw in NRL finals? One extra half of five minutes is played, and should neither team have scored any more points in that time, a second period commences until one of the teams scores again, thus winning the game. This does not happen in the final. If the final is drawn then the teams have a replay at a neutral ground.
