The Geopolitics of Emotion: Reshaping the World

Q1: What is the premise of "The Geopolitics of Emotion"? A1: The book argues that fear, humiliation, and hope are powerful emotional forces that shape global politics. It explores how these emotions are exploited by political leaders, reinforced by culture and media, and ultimately influence international relations.

Q2: How do cultures of fear manifest themselves? A2: Cultures of fear arise when people perceive a real or imagined threat to their security or way of life.
