The Church According to the New Testament: What the Wisdom and Witness of Early Christianity Teach Us Today

The New Testament provides invaluable insights into the nature and purpose of the church. By examining the teachings and practices of the early Christian community, we gain a clearer understanding of what it means to be a part of the Body of Christ.

1. What is the Purpose of the Church?

The New Testament reveals that the church's primary purpose is to worship God, proclaim the gospel, and build up the body of believers. Acts 2:42-47 describes the church as a community that "devoted themselves to the apostles' teaching and fellowship, to the breaking of bread and the prayers."

2. What is the Structure of the Church?

The New Testament does not provide a rigid hierarchy for church government. However, it does indicate that the church should be led by elders or pastors who guide and oversee the congregation (Titus 1:5-9). The church also includes deacons and Deaconesses who serve the practical needs of the community (Romans 16:1).

3. What is the Role of the Holy Spirit in the Church?

The Holy Spirit plays a pivotal role in the church's life and ministry. The Spirit empowers believers, distributes gifts, unifies the body, and guides the church's decisions (Acts 1:8; Romans 12:4-8). The presence of the Spirit ensures that the church is a dynamic and Spirit-led community.

4. What is the Mission of the Church?

The church is commissioned to carry out the Great Commission: "Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit" (Matthew 28:19). This mission involves sharing the gospel, discipling believers, and serving others as Christ did.

5. How Can We Apply these Principles Today?

The wisdom and witness of early Christianity continue to guide us in building healthy and vibrant churches today. By adhering to the biblical principles outlined in the New Testament, we can create communities that are:_____

- Centered on worshipping God
- Committed to proclaiming the gospel
- Dedicated to building up one another
- Led by Spirit-filled leaders
- Engaged in the mission of reaching the lost
