Is chemistry a2 hard? Yes, Chemistry A-Level is harder than GCSE by necessity. A-Level, after all, stands for “Advanced Level.” Hence, all A-Levels are meant to be more complex than GCSEs. A-Levels are designed to cover more complex and in-depth material.

Why is A2 so much harder than as? With all the added content introduced in the second year of college, this creates a much heavier workload than students had to deal with at AS level. A2 is notorious for its large workload, especially when comparing it with GCSE and AS level workloads.

What is the hardest chemistry A level topic? Transition metals is a problematic topic for many students, who find it difficult to contend with its formulae, equations, and advanced concepts. Understanding, and writing equations for, the redox chemistry of cells and fuel cells is a challenging area.
