What is the role of nonverbal communication in interpersonal relationships?

Nonverbal Communication in Initiating Relationships We may make eye contact or connect through touch, scent, hand gestures, physical appearance, and other nonverbal cues. We often use nonverbal communication to relay to others an interest in continuing a conversation or leaving a conversation.

For what purpose might people be using nonverbal behaviors? Other than providing information about mood and emotion, nonverbal behavior also helps to regulate interpersonal communication and demonstrate the level of intimacy in relationships with others.

- Standing in someone's personal space
- Pointing in someone's face
