The backs of the chairs will support the blankets. Drape the Blankets: Take your largest blanket or sheet and drape it over the chair backs, creating the fort's roof. Use smaller blankets to fill in the sides.

How much headspace do I need for a bunk bed? The Consumer Products Safety Commission recommends a minimum of 30" of space from the top of the mattress to the ceiling. If you want more space underneath you can go closer to the ceiling.

Can two adults sleep in a bunk bed? Twin bunk beds are the most common in the market. They are perfect for children, teens, and short adults. These beds don't have enough space for two people to sleep side by side. However, since they come with two bunks, two sleepers can fit in comfortably.
