What happened in chapter 9 of The Great Gatsby? Wilson tells his friend, Michaelis, that Myrtle had been cheating on him. He also says that he knows how to find the man who killed her. Wilson leaves and goes in search of the yellow car and is given directions to Gatsby's. He makes his way there and kills Gatsby before turning the gun on himself.

Why do Tom and Daisy leave The Great Gatsby? In the end, Tom and Daisy decide to move away from East Egg and New York in order to escape from their problems. Gatsby becomes infamous as people still believe that he was the one who killed Myrtle.

Who shows up to Gatsby's funeral? The only people to attend the funeral are Nick, Owl Eyes, a few servants, and Gatsby's father, Henry C. Gatz, who has come all the way from Minnesota. Henry Gatz is proud of his son and saves a picture of his house.

Why is Gatsby's father proud of him? Jay Gatsby's father, Henry Gatz, is proud of his son because Gatsby was a self-made man. He was born into poverty, but he did not let his social circumstances keep him from achieving his goals. Gatsby was driven, independent, and savvy to the way the world works.

Why did Tom cry in chapter 9? Later that October, Nick runs into Tom Buchanan on Fifth Avenue in New York. He refuses to shake Tom's hand, and learns that Tom was the one who told George Wilson that Gatsby ran over Myrtle. Tom adds also that he cried when he gave up the apartment in which he conducted his affair with Myrtle.

What is Gatsby's real name? We learn from Nick about Gatsby's true origins. His real name is James Gatz. He comes from North Dakota. At the age of 17 he changed his name to Jay Gatsby after meeting a rich mining prospector called Dan Cody.

Is Gatsby actually in love with Daisy? As it is revealed throughout the novel, the sole purpose of his efforts is to gain the affection of his past lover Daisy Buchanan, whom he deserted five years earlier to go to war. Despite Gatsby's "romantic readiness" (2), as narrator Nick Carraway puts it, he subtly shows that his love for Daisy is never genuine.

Did Daisy know Gatsby died? She may not have known that Gatsby was dead. She was driving the car that hit and killed her husband's Tom's mistress, and then let Gatsby take the blame. Her 'love' for him was not love at all—it was a selfish romance. She also had to stay on Tom's good side—he's not too tolerant of people who disobey him.

Was Gatsby richer than Tom? Gatsby isn't as rich as Tom. Gatsby has money, but Tom is old (by American standards) money. This is, by and large, the theme of the novel: the American version of the difference between wealth and money.

Who arrives 3 days after Gatsby's death? Three days after the murder of Gatsby, a telegram from his father, 'signed Henry C. Gatz' arrives and, a few days later, Mr. Gatz arrives at the mansion.

Why is Gatsby's funeral ironic? Gatsby's funeral is ironic because only three people attend, while enormous crowds attended his parties. Despite being a popular figure in the social scene, once Gatsby passes, neither Daisy, his business partner Henry Wolfsheim, nor any of his partygoers seem to remember him or care.

What does the green light symbolize? The green light at the end of Daisy's dock in The Great Gatsby by F. Scott Fitzgerald is symbolic of Jay Gatsby's undying love, desperation and the inability to reach the American dream. The story is set in New York during the Jazz Age. In the story, the color green represents the limitations of power and money.

Who does Nick not call to invite to Gatsby's funeral? Nick tries to find anyone at all to come to Gatsby's funeral, but fails. Not even Wolfshiem will come. Daisy and Tom have left town for good, with no forwarding address.

Who refuses to attend Gatsby's funeral? Nick is left to organise Gatsby's funeral. Daisy and Tom have left town. Wolfshiem refuses to come. Hundreds of people attended Gatsby's parties but no-one comes to his funeral apart from Nick, Gatsby's father, and some servants.

Who told Wilson that Gatsby killed Myrtle? Quick answer: Not until the end of the novel do readers learn it was Tom who told Wilson that Gatsby killed Myrtle. According to Tom, Wilson came to the Buchanan house with a gun seeking answers, and Tom told him it was Gatsby's car that had hit Myrtle.

What was Daisy's reaction to Gatsby's death in Chapter 9? Although Fitzgerald does not place Daisy there at the funeral, there is a lot of evidence that shows she might have wished to be there, and that she felt sorry about Gatsby's death.

What happens when Nick runs into Tom in Chapter 9? In October, Nick bumps into Tom Buchanan on Fifth Avenue. Nick refuses to shake his hand, as he discovers that Tom was the one who told George Wilson that Gatsby killed Myrtle. Tom mentions that he cried when he had to give up the apartment he shared with Myrtle.

Why did Nick take care of Gatsby's funeral Chapter 9? Nick took care of Gatsby's funeral because he was his only close friend and the only person who really cared about him.

Did Daisy know Gatsby died? She may not have known that Gatsby was dead. She was driving the car that hit and killed her husband's Tom's mistress, and then let Gatsby take the blame. Her 'love' for him was not love at all—it was a selfish romance. She also had to stay on Tom's good side—he's not too tolerant of people who disobey him.

Timing is Everything: A Conversation with Mary Calmes

Introduction

Timing is a crucial aspect of any project, and in the world of writing, it can make all the difference between a successful manuscript and one that languishes in the slush pile. From pacing to submissions, timing is key. In this exclusive interview, award-winning author Mary Calmes shares her insights on the importance of timing in writing.

Question 1: How does timing impact the pacing of your writing?

Mary Calmes: Timing is essential for pacing. By varying the length of scenes and chapters, I can create a sense of urgency or suspense. Faster pacing keeps readers engaged, while slower pacing allows them to absorb information and develop a connection with the characters.

Question 2: When is the best time to submit your manuscript?

Mary Calmes: Timing is also crucial for submissions. Research literary agents and publishers to determine their submission windows. Avoid submitting during peak periods, when your manuscript may have difficulty standing out. Consider submitting during off-seasons or when specific genres are in high demand.

Question 3: How can writers anticipate changes in the publishing landscape?

Mary Calmes: Timing is important in staying ahead of industry trends. Attend conferences, read industry publications, and network with other writers to gain insights into emerging themes and reader preferences. By anticipating changes, you can adjust your writing to remain relevant.

Question 4: What advice do you have for writers struggling with timing?

Mary Calmes: Break down the writing process into smaller tasks. Set realistic deadlines and stick to them. Seek feedback from critique partners or beta readers to identify pacing or submission timing issues. Remember that timing is an art that takes practice and patience.

Conclusion

Timing is a powerful tool in the hands of writers. By carefully considering the pace of their writing, the timing of their submissions, and the evolving publishing landscape, writers can increase their chances of success. As Mary Calmes reminds us, "Timing is everything. It's the difference between a manuscript that sings and one that stumbles."
