What happened to Jon Bon Jovi? After decades of singing anthemic songs like "Livin' on a Prayer" at sold-out stadiums around the world, Jon Bon Jovi stopped performing a few years ago because he was having problems with his vocal cords. "I was overusing it," the Bon Jovi lead singer says of his voice.

What religion is Bon Jovi? Bon Jovi has described himself as a recovering Catholic.

Why is Bon Jovi so famous? Over 120 million albums sold. More than 2,600 concerts around the world. They've seen well over a million faces- and yes, rocked them all. Bon Jovi redefined the rock anthem by dominating arenas and captivating audiences with hooks that continue to define the decade.

How did Bon Jovi get their name? Because Jon Bon Jovi wanted a group name, Pamela Maher, a friend of Richard Fischer and an employee of Doc McGhee, suggested they call themselves Bon Jovi, following the example of the other famous two-word bands such as Van Halen.

Why did Bon Jovi retire? Bon Jovi then had to face the music: seek help or retire: "I went to the doctor and said, 'I've done everything I know how to do. '" In the summer of 2022, he underwent vocal fold medialization surgery, to alleviate loose vocal folds that were stealing his voice and affecting his singing.

What happened to Jovi and his wife? Despite problems, the couple underwent therapy and resolved issues, but trust was broken when Jovi visited a strip club without telling Yara. Jovi is still trying to convince Yara to have a second baby, and they are happy living in Miami, away from Louisiana.
