The Church as Koinonia of Salvation: Its Structures and Functions

The Church is a divine institution founded by Jesus Christ as a koinonia of salvation. It is a community of believers who are called to live in fellowship with God and with one another, sharing in Christ's saving grace. This koinonia (communion) has specific structures and functions that contribute to the salvation of its members.

1. Who is the Church? The Church is the body of Christ, composed of all believers who have been baptized into the Christian faith. It is a universal community that transcends national, cultural, and denominational boundaries.

2. What is the purpose of the Church? The primary purpose of the Church is to proclaim the Gospel of salvation and to facilitate the spiritual growth of its members. It also has a mission to serve the world through acts of love and compassion.

3. What is the nature of the Church as a koinonia? The Church is a communion of believers who are united by their faith in Christ and their participation in the sacraments. This koinonia involves sharing in God's love, forgiveness, and grace.

4. What are the key structures of the Church? The Church has various structures that facilitate its mission. These include:

- Clergy: Ordained ministers who lead the Church in worship, preaching, and pastoral care.
- Laity: Non-ordained members of the Church who participate in its mission through various ministries and services.

- Congregations: Local communities of believers who gather for worship, fellowship, and spiritual growth.
- Synods and councils: Regional and national gatherings of Church representatives to make decisions and provide guidance.

5. What are the functions of the Church in salvation? The Church plays a vital role in the salvation of its members through:

- Preaching and teaching: Proclaiming the Gospel and equipping believers with biblical knowledge.
- Baptism and Holy Communion: Initiating believers into the Christian community and nourishing their faith.
- Forgiveness: Absolving sinners of their sins and restoring their relationship with God.
- Fellowship and support: Providing a community where believers can grow in their faith and experience the love of God.
