What are the Three Waves of Volunteers? Cannon described the three waves as follows:

- First Wave: Ancient souls who came to Earth in the past to sow seeds of spiritual awareness and prepare the way for future generations.
- Second Wave: Souls who incarnated during the 20th and 21st centuries to accelerate the awakening process and dismantle old structures.
- Third Wave: Souls who are currently being born or will soon incarnate to complete the transformation and usher in the New Earth.

What are their Missions? Each wave of volunteers has a specific mission:

- First Wave: To spark spiritual consciousness and lay the foundation for future growth.
- Second Wave: To challenge established norms, break down barriers, and empower others to awaken.
- Third Wave: To manifest a new reality based on love, compassion, and unity, while integrating the lessons of previous waves.

How are the Waves Connected? The three waves are interconnected and build upon each other. The First Wave laid the groundwork for the Second Wave, which in turn is preparing the way for the Third Wave. Together, they are guided by a higher purpose to create a more enlightened and harmonious Earth.

What is the New Earth? The New Earth is a vision of a future where humanity has evolved beyond fear, conflict, and division. It is a world characterized by peace, cooperation, and profound spiritual connection. The Third Wave of volunteers plays a pivotal role in actualizing this vision.

What Can We Do to Support the Waves of Volunteers? Cannon emphasizes the importance of acknowledging and supporting the efforts of these volunteers. By being open to their messages, aligning with their missions, and embodying their qualities, we can contribute to the collective transformation and hasten the manifestation of the New Earth.
