Tozer on Worship and Entertainment: Questions and Answers

1. What is the primary purpose of worship according to A. W. Tozer?

Tozer believed that the primary purpose of worship is to glorify God. Worship is not about our personal enjoyment or spiritual fulfillment, but rather about exalting the majesty and worth of the Creator.

2. How does entertainment differ from worship?

According to Tozer, entertainment is focused on satisfying our own desires and providing temporary pleasure. Worship, on the other hand, directs our attention to God and seeks to please Him. Entertainment is often passive and self-centered, while worship is an active and God-centered experience.

3. Can worship and entertainment coexist?

Tozer believed that it is possible for worship to be corrupted by entertainment. When worship becomes more about our own enjoyment than about honoring God, it ceases to be true worship. Entertainment can creep into worship through elements such as excessive theatrics, flashy music, or shallow messages.

4. How can we avoid entertainment in worship?

Tozer urged Christians to focus on the essence of worship: adoration, thanksgiving, confession, and surrender. We should be wary of activities that distract us from these core elements. He also emphasized the importance of discernment and introspection in discerning genuine worship from mere entertainment.

5. What is the role of the Holy Spirit in true worship?

Tozer believed that the Holy Spirit empowers us to truly worship God. The Spirit creates in us a longing for God, guides us in right worship, and fills us with joy and reverence in His presence. When we worship the Spirit's way, we experience a profound connection with God that transforms our lives.

The Life-Changing Magic of Not Giving a F.K.

What exactly is "not giving a f.k."?

Not giving a f.k. is not about being apathetic or indifferent. It's about choosing to prioritize your own well-being and emotional freedom by not letting the opinions, judgments, or expectations of others affect you. It's about focusing on what truly matters to you and letting go of the things that don't serve you.

How can not giving a f.k. make a difference in my life?

When you stop caring about what others think, you free yourself from the chains of external validation. You become more confident in your own decisions, less prone to anxiety and stress, and able to live a more authentic life. It also allows you to set boundaries and protect your energy from those who would drain you.

Won't people think I'm weird or selfish if I stop giving a f.k.?

Some people may misunderstand or disapprove of your decision to prioritize your own well-being. However, it's important to remember that their opinions are not your problem. You have the right to choose the path that is best for you, regardless of what others think. True friends and loved ones will support your choices, even if they don't fully understand them.

How do I start practicing the art of not giving a f.k.?

It takes practice and effort to break free from the grip of external validation. Start by identifying the things that trigger you the most and make a conscious choice to not let them affect you. Focus on the things you can control, such as your own thoughts and actions. Set boundaries with people who make you feel bad about yourself, and surround yourself with those who support your growth.

Is it possible to go too far with not giving a f.k.?

While it's empowering to let go of the opinions of others, it's important to strike a balance. There are times when it's necessary to consider the perspectives of others, especially in professional or social settings. The key is to learn to differentiate between when it's appropriate to care and when it's not giving you a f.k. will empower you to take control of your life, live with greater freedom, and achieve your goals without being weighed down by the opinions or judgments of others.
