Spotts' Design of Machine Elements Solutions Manual

Spotts' Design of Machine Elements is a classic textbook on the design of mechanical components. The book has been used by generations of engineering students and practitioners. The book covers a wide range of topics, including shafts, gears, bearings, springs, and fasteners.

The solutions manual for Spotts' Design of Machine Elements is a valuable resource for students and practitioners alike. The manual provides step-by-step solutions to all of the problems in the textbook. This can be a great help for students who are struggling with a particular problem or for practitioners who need to check their work.

Question 1

A shaft is subjected to a bending moment of 200 N-m and a torque of 150 N-m. The shaft is made of steel with a yield strength of 400 MPa. What is the minimum diameter of the shaft?

Answer

The minimum diameter of the shaft can be found using the following equation:

$$d = \sqrt[3]{(16 * M_b * M_t) / (\pi * S_y)}$$

where:

- d is the shaft diameter in meters

- $M_b$  is the bending moment in Newton-meters
- $M_t$  is the torque in Newton-meters
- $S_y$  is the yield strength of the material in Pascals

Plugging in the given values, we get:

$$d = (16 * 200 \text{ N-m} * 150 \text{ N-m}) / (\pi * 400 \text{ MPa}) = 0.039 \text{ m} = 39 \text{ mm}$$

Therefore, the minimum diameter of the shaft is 39 mm.

Question 2

A gear is made of steel with a Brinell hardness of 250. The gear has a diametral pitch of 10 teeth/inch and a face width of 1.5 inches. What is the maximum power that the gear can transmit?

Answer

The maximum power that the gear can transmit can be found using the following equation:

$$P = (2 * \pi * n * M_t) / 60000$$

where:

- $P$  is the power in kilowatts
- $n$  is the speed in revolutions per minute
- $M_t$  is the torque in Newton-meters

The torque can be found using the following equation:

$$M_t = (F_t * d) / 2$$

where:

- $F_t$  is the tangential force in Newtons
- $d$  is the pitch diameter in inches

The tangential force can be found using the following equation:

$$F_t = (W * P_d) / (2 * \pi * n)$$

where:

- W is the load in pounds
- P_d is the diametral pitch in teeth/inch

Plugging in the given values, we get:

$$F_t = (250 \text{ lb} * 10 \text{ teeth/inch}) / (2 * \pi * 1000 \text{ rpm}) = 12.73 \text{ N}$$

$$M_t = (12.73 \text{ N} * 1.5 \text{ inches}) / 2 = 9.55 \text{ N-m}$$

$$P = (2 * \pi * 1000 \text{ rpm} * 9.55 \text{ N-m}) / 60000 = 1.01 \text{ kW}$$

Therefore, the maximum power that the gear can transmit is 1.01 kW.

Conclusion

The solutions manual for Spotts' Design of Machine Elements is a valuable resource for students and practitioners alike. The manual provides step-by-step solutions to all of the problems in the textbook. This can be a great help for students who are struggling with a particular problem or for practitioners who need to check their work.
