Solutions to Sears and Salinger Thermodynamics: Common Questions Answered

1. What is the difference between an intensive and an extensive property?

- Answer: An intensive property is one that does not depend on the amount of matter in a system, such as temperature and pressure. An extensive property is one that does depend on the amount of matter, such as mass and volume.

2. What is the first law of thermodynamics?

- Answer: The first law of thermodynamics states that energy cannot be created or destroyed, only transferred or transformed. In other words, the total amount of energy in an isolated system remains constant.

3. What is the second law of thermodynamics?

- Answer: The second law of thermodynamics states that the entropy of an isolated system always increases. Entropy is a measure of disorder or randomness, so the second law of thermodynamics means that isolated systems tend to become more disordered over time.

4. What is the third law of thermodynamics?

- Answer: The third law of thermodynamics states that the entropy of a perfect crystal at absolute zero is zero. This means that perfectly ordered systems have no entropy.

5. What are some applications of thermodynamics?

- Answer: Thermodynamics has many applications in science and engineering, including the design of heat engines, refrigerators, and air conditioners. It is also used to study chemical reactions, phase transitions, and the behavior of materials.
