What is philosophy best answer? Quite literally, the term "philosophy" means, "love of wisdom." In a broad sense, philosophy is an activity people undertake when they seek to understand fundamental truths about themselves, the world in which they live, and their relationships to the world and to each other.

What is the biggest problem in philosophy? The fundamental problem of philosophy is whether doing it has any point, since if it does not have any point, there is no reason to do it. It is suggested that the intrinsic point of doing philosophy is to establish a rational consensus about what the answers to its main questions are.

What is required to be a good philosopher? In a broad sense, philosophers use their love of knowledge to ponder questions that don't necessarily have answers. Through close reading, logical analysis and experimental thought, philosophers look to develop a deeper understanding of our universe and provoke meaningful conversations about the human condition.
