The Apostolic Ministry: An Interview with Rick Joyner

Q: What is the apostolic ministry?

A: The apostolic ministry is a foundational ministry that establishes the framework for the Church. Apostles are called to lay the groundwork for the Church, establish doctrine, and release the gifts of God to the Body of Christ. They are responsible for training and mentoring leaders, setting vision, and providing spiritual oversight.

Q: What are the characteristics of an apostle?

A: Apostles typically possess a deep understanding of Scripture, a strong prophetic anointing, and a compassionate heart. They are bold in their faith, willing to take risks, and dedicated to advancing the Kingdom of God. They have a global perspective and are often called to minister in multiple nations.

Q: What is the role of an apostle in the Church today?

A: Apostles are essential for the maturity and growth of the Church. They release revelation and guidance from the Lord, unite believers across denominational lines, and build bridges between cultures. They help to establish and maintain sound doctrine, protect the Church from false teachings, and equip the saints for effective ministry.

Q: How can we recognize true apostles?

A: True apostles are recognized by their fruit. They bear witness to the transforming power of the Gospel, edify the Body of Christ, and release the power of God in their ministries. They are humble servants who seek to build up the Church rather than promote themselves.

Q: What is the difference between an apostle and a pastor?

A: Pastors are primarily responsible for shepherding a local congregation, while apostles have a broader mandate and may minister to multiple congregations and geographic regions. Pastors focus on the day-to-day needs of their flock, while apostles often provide strategic leadership and spiritual vision for the larger Church. However, these roles can overlap and complement each other in the building of the Body of Christ.

What is the assurance provided by the auditor? Assurance in auditing refers to the opinions issued by a professional regarding the accuracy and completeness of what's analyzed. For example, an accountant assuring that financial statements are accurate and valid asserts that they have reviewed the documents using acceptable accounting standards and principles.

What is an assurance service in auditing? Key Takeaways. Assurance services are a type of independent professional service usually provided by certified or chartered accountants such as CPAs. Assurance Services are defined as independent professional services that improve the quality or context of information for decision-makers.

What are the examples of assurance services provided by the internal audit activity? Assurance Services (Audit) Examples may include financial, performance, compliance, system security, and due diligence engagements.

What are assurance services provided by CPA? Assurance Service Providers It also analyzes the processes and operations of an organization to assure the legitimacy of its business practices. CPAs also test the validity of past business information by evaluating and testing the entity's financial statements.

What are the two types of assurance in auditing? After the third party verifies the GHG reporting, they will evaluate the audit procedures and evidence collected to assign a level of assurance, with “limited” assurance being the fundamental level and “reasonable” assurance being the more comprehensive and reliable level.

What are the five elements of audit assurance?

What are the three levels of assurance services? Most organizations hire a CPA to issue financial statements that conform to U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP), but not all financial statements are created equal. Owners can choose from three basic options, in order of decreasing assurance level: audits, reviews, and compilations.

What is the role of auditing and assurance services? The audit is the review of the accounts or documents, while the assurance is the process analysis of those accounts or records. Once analyzed, the organization can make changes as needed and be "assured" they have accurate financials and processes in place.

What is the process of assurance in auditing? What is audit assurance? The Audit is the process of evaluating the accounting entries present in the financial statement of the company. The audit checks the accuracy of the financial reports. Assurance is the process of analyzing and used in the assessment of accounting entries and financial records.

What is the objective of assurance services? The main objective of assurance services, as stated by the AICPA, is to provide information that assists in better decision making. Assurance services encompass audit and other attestation services but also include nonstandard services.

Why do we need assurance services? Your organization needs assurance services to ensure compliance with laws and regulations, identify weaknesses in internal controls, enhance credibility with stakeholders, provide assurance on financial statements' accuracy, and facilitate informed decision-making on financial performance and risk management.

What is the difference between audit and assurance? An audit ensures reports or processes adhere to the laws, industry standards or internal policies. On the other hand, assurance enhances the credibility and reliability of information for decision-making purposes. It provides a second independent assessment of various organizational aspects.

What are the three types of services performed by CPAs?

Which three parties are generally involved in assurance services? There are generally three parties involved in assurance services: (1) the person or group directly involved with the entity, operation, function, process, system, or other subject matter — the process owner, (2) the person or group making the assessment — the internal auditor, and (3) the person or group using the ...

What are the components of assurance services? Assurance services improve the quality of information to allow for better decision making. Assurance encompasses five key elements: relationship, subject matter, criteria, evidence, and conclusion.

What level of assurance do auditors provide? The auditor's objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes the auditor's opinion.

What assurance is provided by the auditor in an agreed upon procedures? As the auditor simply provides a report of the factual findings of agreed-upon procedures, no assurance is expressed. Instead, users of the report assess for themselves the procedures and findings reported by the auditor and draw their own conclusions from the auditor's work.

What assurance is provided by internal auditors? The role of internal audit is to provide independent assurance that an organisation's risk management, governance and internal control processes are operating effectively.

Can auditors provide assurance? External or independent auditors usually perform assurance. The independent auditors conduct detailed assessments and provide unbiased reports. They also make recommendations on how the company can mitigate risks.
