Shot in the Heart: An Interview with Mikal Gilmore

Question: In your book "Shot in the Heart," you recount the story of your brother's execution for murder. How did writing about this experience affect you?

Answer: It was cathartic and incredibly painful at the same time. Writing the book forced me to confront the trauma of my brother's death, but it also gave me a chance to process my grief and anger.

Question: Did you ever have any sympathy for your brother, Gary?

Answer: Yes. I understood that Gary was a troubled and complex individual who had made terrible choices. However, I could not condone his actions and ultimately believed that justice was served.

Question: What impact did your brother's death have on your family?

Answer: It shattered our lives. We struggled to come to terms with the loss and the shame associated with our brother's crime. It took years for us to begin to heal from that trauma.

Question: In the book, you explore the flaws in the death penalty system. What are your thoughts on capital punishment today?

Answer: I believe that the death penalty is a cruel and unnecessary punishment. It is not a deterrent to crime, and it disproportionately affects marginalized communities. I advocate for the abolition of capital punishment and for a focus on restorative justice.

Question: How has your experience shaped your life?

Answer: It has made me both more empathetic and more determined to fight for social justice. I have dedicated my life to writing and speaking out against violence and the death penalty. I hope that my story can help others who have been touched by these issues.
