prejudice.

How did Father react to Bruno's death? The theme of excusal is furthered by Father's bizarre reaction to Bruno's death at the end of the novel. The father does not realize the horror of Auschwitz: he does not feel guilty, he does not see the place as remarkable, despite having killed his own son there. He does not see anything wrong with what he has done.

What did Bruno's dad do after he died? Still distraught from his realization as to what happened to Bruno, Father goes happily, as he no longer cares what happens to him anymore. The narrator states that that is the end of the story of Bruno and his family.

What was Bruno's secret? Bruno's power was the ability to see into the future. While family members believe Bruno is no longer around, the viewers soon discover that Bruno never left but instead has been secretly living in the family's house to keep a close watch over his loved ones and help out when he can.

What did Lieutenant Kotler do to Pavel? Fearing the implications of Father's interrogation, Lieutenant Kotler attempted to show his loyalty to the Nazi Party by brutally beating Pavel, a Jewish man. Pavel. By the end of Chapter 14, Bruno begins to grow into a more self-reflective person, particularly with regard to his friendship with Shmuel.

Who is the villain in The Boy in the Striped Pajamas? Officer Ralf is the main antagonist of the 2008 Historical-drama, The Boy in the Striped Pyjamas. He was portrayed by David Thewlis.

Who helped Bruno when he fell? While trying to push himself higher, Bruno lost his grip and fell, knocking his head and scraping his leg. Pavel appeared and carried the boy to the kitchen, where he fetched a first aid kit and dressed Bruno's wounds. Bruno worried he might die from his injuries, but Pavel insisted he'd be fine.

What does Bruno ask Shmuel every day? Every day Bruno asks Shmuel if he can crawl under the fence so they can play, but Shmuel is afraid to get in trouble.

Why was Lieutenant Kotler sent away? ' Kotler is eventually transferred away from Auschwitz when Bruno's father discovers that Kotler's father, a literature professor, fled Germany at the start of the war. Bruno's grandmother dies. Kotler is relocated. Bruno and Shmuel meet again and Bruno apologises.

What does Bruno's Father tell the children? Father tells Bruno he is proud of him for helping his mother and sister to close the house, and asks him what he thinks of their new home. Bruno admits that he doesn't like it, but Father says that he must accept "Out-With" as the family's new home.

What secret did Bruno accidentally tell Gretel? Why couldn't Bruno go to see Shmuel for a while? He told her about Shmuel. What did Bruno accidentally tell Gretel? He said he was his imaginary friend.

What happened to Ralph after Bruno died? Preceding the death of Bruno, Gretel's mother, Elsa, had been diagnosed by a mental disorder, leading to her suicide. The heartache of the loss of her only boy, had been too overwhelming, for she had taken her own life. After the conclusion of the war, Ralph was held detained, and later hung.

What two things does Bruno wear to stay undercover? Bruno decides that for his final day, he will wear a pair of striped pajamas so that he can sneak under the fence and help Shmuel find his father. Bruno is quickly disillusioned with the camp, but since he promised to help Shmuel find his father, he stays. The boys are ordered to be in a group that marches into a room.

Is The Boy in Striped Pyjamas based on a true story? Many people who have read the book or watched the film adaptation believe that it is a true story based on real people and real events. However, it is important to understand that the book is a work of fiction. The events portrayed could never have happened.

What is the main problem in The Boy in the Striped Pajamas? Major ConflictThe novel's major conflict arises when Bruno's family is forced to move from their home in Berlin to a desolate place in Poland. Isolated, friendless, and far away from the familiar comforts of home, Bruno rails against the injustice of his situation.

What is the ending of The Boy in Striped Pajamas? Through out the movie, the two young boys grow close. Bruno sneaks off to the camp to see his new friend, Shmuel, without his parents knowing, which evidently led to his death. Bruno and Shmuel both sadly died in the gas chamber, holding hands, not knowing what was going on.

What question does Shmuel ask even though he doesn't want to? Instead of answering, Shmuel asked if Bruno had any food. Bruno didn't have any, but he said Shmuel should come to dinner at his house sometime. Either that, or he could go over and meet Shmuel's friends.

What are some interesting facts about The Boy in the Striped Pajamas? The main character, Bruno, is a normal, nine-year-old boy. The only unusual thing is the fact that he is wealthy and the son of a Nazi officer. Bruno is kind and charming, but blissfully unaware of the horrors and war crimes going on around him. Since he is nine, the point of view is interesting.

What does The Boy in the Striped Pajamas symbolize? The main symbol used throughout Boyne's novel is that of the "striped pajamas"—grey striped uniforms the Jewish prisoners wear at Auschwitz. Since the novel utilizes a boy's perspective, the author creates a symbol that combines child's innocence with the horror of war.

What does Bruno ask Shmuel every day? Every day Bruno asks Shmuel if he can crawl under the fence so they can play, but Shmuel is afraid to get in trouble.
