What is the story of down to a sunless sea? Book overview. The six hundred passengers and crew members aboard a jumbo jetliner are left without a destination and a country when nuclear war breaks out and spreads devastation around the world. A collapsed economy and an increasingly savage society were causing thousands to abandon America.

What are the two endings of down to a sunless sea? There are two different endings of Down To A Sunless Sea which suggest either a radioactive death for all the survivors with a theological twist, or minus the polar advance of radiation, a chance for the almost one thousand survivors to rebuild the world.

What is the story of Sunless Sea? Captain a Victorian steamship on a vast underground sea! If the giant crabs, sentient icebergs and swarms of bats don't get you, madness and cannibalism certainly will. But that old black ocean beckons, and there's loot for the brave souls who dare to sail her.

Is there an ending to Sunless Sea? In Sunless Sea there are many ways to win. Many more to die. In either case, you will see each respective ending game screen according to what caused it to trigger. Certain Victory endings would require you to Choose an Ambition and fulfil it.

Is Sunless Sea difficult? Sunless Sea does none of those things, the game in general is incredibly easy and offers very few mechanical challenges - the real enjoyment of the game comes in the developing lines of story and character.

What is down to a sunless sea about by Neil Gaiman? Down to a Sunless Sea by Neil Gaiman (Summary) - Writing Atlas. A somber woman mysteriously walks along the Rotherhithe docks for years. One day, she tells a stranger the disturbing story of her son who vanished at sea. In London, a woman's husband does not return after going to sea.

How long does it take to beat Sunless Sea?

What's the point of a Sunless Sea? Sunless Sea is a game of exploration, survival and loneliness set in the award-winning Victorian Gothic universe of Fallen London, developed by Failbetter Games Ltd.

What did Alexis Kennedy do? He founded the company Failbetter Games in January 2010. Failbetter initially developed browser-based interactive fiction, including Fallen London and a platform called Story Nexus for other interactive fiction.

Who is the traitor empress in the Sunless Sea? Her Majesty Victoria, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland Queen, Defender of the Faith, Empress of India. Thirty years before the events of Sunless Sea, the great city of London was stolen beneath the surface of the waves.

How many years after Sunless Sea does Sunless Skies take place? The game is set ten years after the events of Sunless Sea, after the subterranean city of London opened a gateway known as the Avid Horizon and gained access to outer space, here called the High Wilderness, where stars are godlike beings who exert power through their light and unspeakable terrors lurk in the dark.

Is Sunless Sea randomly generated? Map Generation The placement of map tiles is not completely randomized.

How do you get rid of crew in Sunless Sea? Either let a monster ram into your boat and kill a bunch off or find a story option that uses up/risks crew. Also go to Poly and buy the WE ARE CLAY item. When equipped to your boat it reduces the crew by three. You can lose half your crew by sailing off the north end of the map (also gives you 50 terror, though).

Statistics for Business and Economics: 8th Edition Solutions for Students

Question: Find the probability of obtaining a sample mean of less than 100 from a population with a mean of 110 and a standard deviation of 15. The sample size is 49.

Answer: Using the central limit theorem and the z-score formula, we have:

$$z = (100 - 110) / (15 / \sqrt{49}) = -2.83$$
$$P(X < 100) = P(Z < -2.83) = 0.0022$$

Question: A company claims that its average customer satisfaction score is 8.5. A sample of 50 customers is taken and the average satisfaction score is 8.2 with a standard deviation of 0.8. Test the company's claim at a significance level of 0.05.

Answer: Using the t-distribution and a two-tailed test, we have:

$$t = (8.2 - 8.5) / (0.8 / \sqrt{50}) = -2.06$$
$$p\text{-value} = 2 * P(T < -2.06) = 0.047$$

Since the p-value is less than 0.05, we reject the null hypothesis and conclude that the company's claim is not supported by the data.

Question: A market research firm wants to estimate the mean spending on groceries per month for a certain demographic group. A sample of 100 households is selected and the sample mean is $450 with a standard deviation of $75. Find a 95% confidence interval for the population mean.

Answer: Using the t-distribution and a 95% confidence level, we have:

$$\text{Margin of error} = 1.96 * (75 / \sqrt{100}) = 14.7$$
$$\text{Confidence interval} = [450 - 14.7, 450 + 14.7] = [435.3, 464.7]$$

We are 95% confident that the population mean spending on groceries per month for this demographic group is between $435.3 and $464.7.

Question: A study investigates the relationship between education level and income. The correlation coefficient between the two variables is 0.65. Interpret this result.

Answer: The correlation coefficient of 0.65 indicates a strong and positive linear relationship between education level and income. This means that as education level increases, income tends to increase. However, it is important to note that correlation does not imply causation.

Question: A company is considering launching a new product. They conduct a test market in which they sell the product at three different prices. The sales figures for the three prices are:

- Price A: 250 units sold
- Price B: 400 units sold
- Price C: 550 units sold

Use the chi-square distribution to test whether the sales figures are significantly different from each other.

Answer: Using the chi-square distribution and a significance level of 0.05, we have:

$$\text{chi-square} = [(250 - 350)^2 / 350] + [(400 - 350)^2 / 350] + [(550 - 350)^2 / 350]$$
$$\text{p-value} = P(X > 150) = 0.000$$

Since the p-value is less than 0.05, we reject the null hypothesis and conclude that the sales figures are significantly different from each other.
