2892253063 FR14: Frequently Asked Questions

What is 2892253063 FR14?

2892253063 FR14 is a unique identifier assigned to a specific medical device. It is known as a Unique Device Identifier (UDI) and is used to track and identify medical devices throughout their lifecycle.

Why is it important to use a UDI?

UDIs play a crucial role in ensuring patient safety and improving the efficiency of the healthcare system. They allow healthcare providers to easily identify and track medical devices, facilitating faster recall in case of safety concerns or defects. UDIs also enable better communication and data exchange among manufacturers, distributors, and healthcare facilities.

How is a UDI assigned?

UDIs are assigned by regulatory bodies, such as the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA). Each UDI consists of two main components: a Device Identifier (DI) and a Production Identifier (PI). The DI identifies the specific type of device, while the PI provides information about the manufacturer, lot number, and other relevant production details.

What are the benefits of using a UDI?

UDIs offer several benefits, including:

- Improved patient safety and faster recall

- Enhanced supply chain management and traceability
- Streamlined communication and data exchange
- Reduced costs and improved efficiency
- Increased accountability and transparency

Where can I find the UDI for a medical device?

UDIs are typically found on the packaging or label of medical devices. They are also stored in electronic systems maintained by manufacturers and healthcare providers. By using the UDI, healthcare professionals can access detailed information about the device and its associated records, such as instructions for use, safety alerts, and warranty information.
