The Crucified Life: How to Live Out a Deeper Christian Experience

By A.W. Tozer

What does it mean to live a "crucified life"?

To live a crucified life means to surrender our own desires, ambitions, and self-will to the lordship of Christ. It is a life of self-denial and sacrifice, in which we seek to obey God's will and live according to His purposes.

Why is it important to live a crucified life?

Living a crucified life is essential for a deeper Christian experience because it allows us to experience the fullness of Christ in our lives. When we surrender our own desires and let Christ take control, we are freed from the bondage of sin and self-centeredness. This allows us to experience the joy, peace, and love that only Christ can bring.

How can we live a crucified life?

To live a crucified life, we must first understand the cost. It is not a path for the faint of heart or the self-seeking. We must be prepared to give up our own plans and ambitions, and to embrace God's will for our lives.

What are the benefits of living a crucified life?

The benefits of living a crucified life are immeasurable. We experience a deeper intimacy with Christ, greater freedom from the bondage of sin, and an increased capacity for love and compassion. We also become more effective witnesses for Christ, as our lives demonstrate the transformative power of the gospel.

How do we persevere in living a crucified life?

Living a crucified life is not always easy, but it is possible with the help of the Holy Spirit. We must rely on God's grace to empower us to deny our own desires and follow His will. We must also find support from fellow believers who can encourage and strengthen us in our journey.
