Did The Phantom of the Opera assault Christine? He becomes angry and rapes her. After Christine awakens, she witnesses the Phantom covered in his rats and petting them. While he is playing with the rats, she escapes on the boat. She flees into the arms of Raoul, and they ascend to the roof, where they confess their love for each other.

How did the Phantom know about the angel of music? Now, the phantom overheard Christine telling someone, Raul or Meg, stole the title Angel of Music, and went with it. The way that the phantom tries to get Christine is by using her father.

Did the Phantom really love Christine? But, in the moment of Christine's kiss, the Phantom suddenly understands why she's choosing Raoul. Christine shows him love — she's the first person in his whole entire life who does — and his heart cracks open and he feels love in return.

Why did Christine kiss the Phantom? She eventually is given an ultimatum-to live out her days with the Phantom, or see Raoul killed. In a moment of pity and compassion, Christine kisses the Phantom, in an effort to show him kindness for the first time in his life.

Why does Christine have a baby with the Phantom? The day before her wedding, Christine had an affair with the Phantom, thus becoming lovers and between the two, Gustave was born. He was very close with his mother, more close with her than his stepfather. All his life, Christine told him that Raoul was his father, without revealing who his birth father was.

What is the real story behind The Phantom of the Opera? While everything in the musical did not actually happen, many elements of the show (and the novel it's based on) are taken from real stories of what happened at a Paris opera house. For example, there was actually a devastating chandelier accident, and there are many rumors of a ghostly presence haunting the theatre.

Who is the evil in Phantom of the Opera? Known as “P. of the Opera,” “the ghost,” “the Voice” and “the Master of the Traps,” Erik is the antagonist of the novel and a tragic, violent, and ultimately mysterious figure.

How did the Phantom get disfigured? In the original novel, Leroux tells us that the phantom was born disfigured and haunts the opera house to satisfy his love of music without being seen. The 1943 film changed this explanation to say that he had acid splashed in his face.

Why does Christine unmask the Phantom? The removal of masks occurs at crucial moments in the narrative; on one such occasion, overwhelmed by the beauty of the Phantom's singing, Christine spontaneously decides to disobey Erik's orders and remove his mask, which causes Erik fear, pain, and anger.

What happens to the Phantom at the end of the musical? Christine forces herself to leave with Raoul in the boat. She looks back at the Phantom sadly, knowing that she loves him. Heartbroken, the Phantom destroys the mirrors and escapes through a secret passage just before the mob shows up.

Why was Christine called Little Lotte? Little Lotte is the name of a character in a poem called A Child's first sorrow by Andreas Munch. Christine and Raul used to read it before her father died, and Christine adopted the name. It is also a name of an old game where the little lotte has too chose from three items.

Why did the chandelier fall in phantom? The chandelier drops after the phantom has written a letter to the opera managers telling them to let Christine sing the lead role in "Faust" instead of the prima dona Carlota. When they don't comply, Carlota cannot sing and the chandelier crashes into the audience killing an audience member.

Did Christine lose her virginity to the Phantom? Phantom of the Opera makes it clear that the Phantom did not sleep with Christine. When in the lair at the end of the musical, Christine asks him outright if he is (finally) going to rape her. "Have you gouged yourself at last in your lust for blood? Am I now to be prey to your lust for flesh?"

What is the age gap between Christine and the Phantom? In the same regard, due to the Phantom's childhood connection with Madame Giry, it's also safe to say that the Phantom is at least 15-20 years older than Christine. So to recap, a 30-40-year-old man has been preying upon a 15-20-year-old girl, kidnaps her and reveals a twisted scenario of secretly marrying her.
